Which TOPIC best describes the following passage?  Although many people believe that we are making continual progress toward a better world, this may be an illusion. We produce a lot more goods now than we did in 1950. But let's look at some of the things we have produced. We have a lot of nuclear bombs. We have even developed small computer-driven bombs. I question whether these types of goods make the world a better place. Part of our consumer mentality is that we always want to buy more of the latest products. So we feel that we need a lot of money to purchase them. But do we really need to buy a new car every two or three years? Perhaps if we thought less about having money and more about developing good relations with the people around us, we would improve our quality of life.  <Notes> illusion 「환상」, mentality 「정신구조」 ① The threat of nuclear bombs ② The illusion of progress ③ Our consumer mentality ④ Developing good relations with others

28. Which of the statements following the passage is NOT true?

The greatest problem for conservationists is that, while we can make laws to protect certain species, we are frequently incapable of controlling the environment in which they live and breed. In spite of taking action to prevent it, we may pollute rivers, making fish sterile. However good our intentions are in destroying insects that eat crops, at the same time, we deprive the birds that live on them. Man has not yet learned how to deal with the balance of nature, and whatever he does, he is bound to alter it without even knowing. But though it may not be possible to save all the endangered species, it may be possible to protect the majority by becoming aware of their serious condition before it is too late.

<Notes> sterile 「불임의」, endangered 「멸종위기에 처한」

- ① We are not able to control the environment.
- ② We cannot protect our crops from insects without harming the birds.
- ③ Man has already learned how to deal with the balance of nature.
- ④ We cannot expect to rescue all of the endangered animals from dying out.

(29-30)

Houdini, the famous magician, began his career in a traveling circus at the age of nine. His first trick was to pick up needles with his eyelids, while hanging by his heels, head downward. He slowly perfected this trick in secret in the family woodshed. This humble beginning was a far cry from Houdini's later role as the master magician who thrilled audiences everywhere. He spent many years of long, hard work in preparing for his feats. He was world-famous for his escapes from handcuffs, strait jackets, prison cells and sealed chambers. He escaped from chests and barrels of every kind. He even escaped from a grave six feet in the ground. When he died on October 31, 1926, he had been a public performer for forty-three years.

<Notes> a far cry 「큰 격차」, feat 「업적, 묘기」, strait jacket 「구속복(광인, 죄수등에 입히는)」

29. What is the MAIN point of the passage?

- ① Magic is very difficult to learn.
- ② Public magicians are well paid.
- ③ To start early is very important for magicians.
- ④ Famous people earn their fame through hard work.

30. What is MOST likely true about the passage?

- ① Houdini enjoyed his daring feats.
- ② Houdini was a master magician.
- ③ Houdini was famous for traveling all over the world.
- ④ Houdini was six feet in height.

31. After reading the passage, choose the CORRECT answers.

If someone said "Life is a cup of coffee," it is unlikely that you would have heard this expression before. But its novelty would force you to think about its meaning. The symbol used, a cup of coffee, is a common object of everyday life, and therefore easily perceivable as a source for thinking about life. The metaphor makes you consider life in terms of the physical, social and other attributes of a cup of coffee. For this metaphor to become popular, however, it must capture the minds of many others for a long time. Only then will its novelty wear out and become a new concept: life is like drinking something. After that, expressions such as "life is a cup of tea, a bottle of beer, or a glass of milk," will become similarly understandable as offering different perspectives on life.

<Notes> novelty 「새로움」, perceivable 「지각할 수 있는」, attribute 「속성」, metaphor 「은유」

→ A new metaphor first makes people (A) its meaning; if it loses its novelty later by gaining (B), it will give birth to similar types of metaphorical expressions.

(32-33)  In the largest theft in British history, six masked gunmen stole almost $40million in pure gold from a warehouse near Heathrow Airport. The theft took place early this morning. Two boxes of diamonds were also taken, although how much they were worth was not immediately known. According to the police, the thieves, carrying handguns and wearing what looked like ski masks, entered the unmarked warehouse at about 6:40 a.m. They handcuffed several guards who were working the night shift, poured gasoline on them, and said that they would set them on fire if they did not cooperate. (A) (B) One hour later, a guard was able to get out of the handcuffs and ring the alarm. When the police arrived, there was no sign of the thieves. The police immediately closed the warehouse and began to investigate the theft. They said that they had no idea how the thieves were able to avoid the complicated security system, which includes automatic doors, a complex alarm system, lights and television cameras. They also didn't know how the men were able to remove the 6,800 bars of gold, which weighed about three tons. <small><Notes> handcuffs 「손을 묶다, 수갑」, night shift 「야간순번」</small>  32. First of all, publications like Glamour and Cosmopolitan appeal to women's insecurities in order to make millions. Topics like "Ten Days to Your More Slender Waist" and "How to Attract Mr. Right" lure women to buy seven million copies per month, reports Donna Kato in The Miami Herald, March 8, 2013. The message: women need to improve. Second, although many people — especially magazine publishers — claim these periodicals build self-esteem, they really do the opposite. One expert in readers' reactions, Deborah, says that almost all women, regardless of age or education, feel worse about themselves after reading one of these magazines. Alice, one of the women I spoke with, is a good example: "I flip through pictures of world-class beauties and six-foot-tall skinny women, and compare myself to them. In more ways than one, I come up short." Finally, if women spent the money and time these magazines cost to undertake more self-loving activities — studying new subjects, developing mental or physical fitness, setting goals and daring to achieve them — they would really build self-worth. Sisters, seek wisdom, create what you envision, and above all, know that you can! <small><Notes> lure 「유혹하다」, periodical 「정기간행물」, envision 「마음속에 그리다」</small>  34. One day she decided that she wanted to become a doctor. That was nearly impossible for a woman in the middle of the nineteenth century. After writing many letters seeking admission to medical schools, she was finally accepted by a doctor in Philadelphia. So determined was she, that she taught school and gave music lessons to earn money for her tuition. In 1849, after graduating from medical school, she decided to further her education in Paris. She wanted to be a surgeon, but a serious eye infection forced her to abandon the idea. Upon returning to the United States, she found it difficult, as a woman, to start her own practice. By 1857, Elizabeth and her sister, also a doctor, along with another female doctor, managed to open a new hospital, the first one for women and children. Besides being the first female physician and founding her own hospital, she even established the first medical school for women. <Notes> tuition 「수업료」, infection 「감염(오염)」  38.
